1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Yamamoto teaches a control system that compares desired and actual values of a lateral dynamic condition (yaw) to determine a corrected steering wheel input T2, and it sums steering input values T1 and T2, but it fails to teach a first transfer function block that determines a desired lateral dynamic condition that is used to determine both values T1 and T2. Therefore, claim 1 distinguishes over the prior art of record. Similarly, claim 8 distinguishes over Yamamoto because Yamamoto does not teach a desired yaw rate that is used to determine a modified yaw rate and a corrected yaw rate so that the modified and corrected yaw rates are summed to produce a final steering wheel input.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
